

NEWS EMBARGOED UNTIL 5PM BST/9AM PDT:

Flashing Lights – Out Now!

Banbury, Oxfordshire – 7th June 2018

Flashing Lights, the police, fire and EMS game, is out now in Early Access! Players can now jump in, for a price of just £11.39/$14.99 – along with a launch week discount. Take a look at the Official Launch Briefing Trailer.

Flashing Lights is available in English, Japanese, Simplified Chinese, German and Russian.

Enrol with the police, emergency medical services or fire department and take on missions unique to each service in an open world. Engage in desperate car chases, diagnose life-threatening injuries, and put out lethal fires! Each department has its own vehicles and equipment for you to operate while on duty. Play in single player, or work together with friends in online multiplayer to tackle incidents across a shared world.

Take a look at the trailer here for a peak at the game's open world, online multiplayer, and gameplay across all three playable departments. As a police officer, players will use a speed radar, pull over suspects and utilise a high-tech on-board computer. As a firefighter, players will be putting out raging fires with a fire extinguisher and a water hose, as well as using the heavy-duty jaws of life to rip apart car doors and rescue those trapped inside. As an EMS specialist, players will find themselves first to respond to life-threatening accidents, using a first aid kit and a stretcher to treat patients.

And that's not all Flashing Lights has to offer – this is just the starting point. After Flashing Lights has launched in Early Access the game's mechanics will be built upon considerably, and the open world will continue to be expanded and improved.
